Bring the power of play to your students.

Play Your Part is a hands-on educational program designed to unite students with their peers across the globe and empower them to change the world. Developed by Right To Play with the support of the Government of Canada, this interactive and multimedia experience explores the themes of gender equality, global citizenship and student leadership using the universal language of all children and youth: play. Best of all, this program is free of charge. Specifically, Play Your Part consists of:

ASSEMBLY

A 45-minute interactive Assembly presentation where students learn about the challenges faced by their peers in other parts of the world and how Right To Play uses play to teach children about everything from effective health practices to building peaceful communities by empowering girls.

WORKSHOP

A half-day leadership Workshop for a selection of students from each school in which workshop participants are trained as Junior Leaders and learn how to lead Right To Play's educational games and discussions with their peers on the topics covered in the program.

"The speaker was excellent and understood how to engage students and how to maintain their attention. The message of 'look after yourself, look after one another' was clearly shared. The kids are excited to become leaders."
